

International 2009 Art & Photo Contest

SINCE 1935, SSHSA has been working to record, preserve, and disseminate the history of engine-powered vessels. Our members and supporters work to do the same! Artists and photographers have shown us their talent and their love of maritime history. On these pages, we present to you these wonderful images of power vessels in various states of the past and the present. We thank all of our contestants for participating and would like to congratulate our winners. These images are posted on our website; to view them along with our honorable mention winners, please go to www.sshsa.org. ■
